Talks

The allotted talk times listed in the program include time for discussion. For talks that are 20 minutes or shorter, please allow for at least 3 minutes of discussion time. For talks longer than 20 minutes, please allow for 5 minutes of discussion time.

All talks will be uploaded to the meeting website. If you submitted your abstract with your own Indico account then you can upload your talk:

1. Go to the agenda page:
<http://indico.ipmu.jp/indico/conferenceTimeTable.py?confId=52#all>
2. Click on the session that contains your talk and click the “View contribution list” link in the window that pops up.

3. Click on the link to your talk and then click the “Add Material” link for your talk.
4. Use the “Choose material” button to find your local file and then click the “Create Resource” button to upload your talk.

If you are unable to upload your talk, please send email to hkmeeting_loc@ipmu.jp and arrangements will be made to have it uploaded. You can also ask to have your talk uploaded when you register on site.

During the sessions, the talks will be projected from a PC running Windows. Please prepare your talk in a compatible format such as .ppt, .pptx or .pdf. To save time, the talks will be downloaded to the PC before the session. If you would like to project your talk from your own laptop, please check your compatibility with the projector during the break before your session to avoid any delays.

Network and Computing Facilities

A wireless network will be available in the meeting room. The SSID and password will be announced at the meeting. No computing facilities or printers will be provided at the meeting.

Hyper-Kamiokande Symposium

The “Inaugural Symposium of the Hyper-Kamiokande Proto-Collaboration” will be held on Jan. 31 at 14:00 to 15:30. Attendees of the Hyper-K meeting are invited to attend the symposium. The symposium will be held outside of the University of Tokyo Kashiwa campus at the Kashiwanoha Conference Center near the Kashiwanoha Campus Station. Details of the symposium agenda and access to the venue can found at:
